CHURCH CONSECRATED

Beautiful Services at St. Luke's Sunday Morning.

Began With Confirmation Service—Rev. A. S. Lloyd, D. D., Former Rector, Preached the Consecration Sermon—Consecration by Bishop A. M. Randolph.

Sunday was a memorable period in the history of St. Luke's Episcopal Church, the occasion being the consecration by Bishop A. M. Randolph of its spacious and beautiful edifice situated on the corner of Granby and Bute streets. The sun—the bright orb of day—rose from behind a cloudless sky, and all nature smiled propitiously on the scene, betokening the Divine favor upon all that was to transpire.

The chancel and altar of the church was tastefully decorated with palms and choice art flowers in honor of the event which presented a most inspiring sight as one would enter the building. This was the work of a committee of ladies that well executed the task assigned it.

CONFIRMATION SERVICES.

The order of exercises began with a confirmation service at 7:30 a. m., conducted by Right Rev. Bishop A. M. Randolph, who was assisted in the ceremony by Rev. Flournoy Bouldin, assistant rector of St. Luke's Church, and Rev. Dr. Carl E. Grammer, of Christ Church. The rite of confirmation was conferred upon ten candidates. The service was a most impressive one, especially the laying of hands by the Bishop, and although it was at an early morning hour, it was witnessed by a large congregation. The candidates were presented to the Bishop by Rev. Mr. Bouldin.

CONSECRATION SERVICE.

Long before the hour set apart for the consecration service had arrived a vast concourse had gathered that filled every available space in the building eager to witness the impressive ceremony and to hear the sermon of Rev. A. S. Lloyd, D. D., late rector of the church, but now General Secretary of the Board of Missions of the Protestant Episcopal Church in America.

At 11 o'clock the Bishop, accompanied by the following divines, Rev. F. Bouldin, Rev. W. A. Barr, D. D., rector of Monumental Church, Richmond; Rev. Mr. Gamble, of Tarboro, N. C., and Rev. A. C. Carpenter, assistant rector of Trinity Church, Portsmouth, proceeded to the entrance of the church by the church warden and vestrymen and proceeded up the aisle of the church to the communion table, the Bishop and clergy repeating one verse of the twenty-fourth Psalm alternately as follows: "The earth is the Lord's and the fullness thereof; the world and all that dwell therein."

At the conclusion of the reading of this Psalm the Gloria Patri was said, and the Bishop with the clergy entered within the rails of the chancel, and after sitting in his chair the Bishop received the deed of the church, which was presented to him by Major R. C. Taylor and Mr. John N. Williams, after which the Bishop delivered the usual address to the congregation. A series of prayers of consecration by the Bishop followed and then Judge Wm. B. Martin read the sentence of consecration and laid it on the communion table, and prayer was offered by the Bishop and then followed the reading of the service for the day.

The morning prayer was conducted by Rev. Dr. Barr, Rev. Mr. Gamble, Rev. Mr. Carpenter and Rev. F. Bouldin, Bishop Randolph and Rev. Dr. Lloyd conducted the ante-communion service.

CONSECRATION SERMON.

Rev. A. S. Lloyd, D. D., preached the consecration sermon from the First Epistle General of Peter, 4th chapter and latter clause of the 10th verse: "Stewards of the manifold grace of God." It was an able and instructive discourse and was listened to with rapt attention by the large audience.

Then came the offertory, followed by the communion service, the latter being conducted by Bishop Randolph and Dr. Lloyd, the closing prayer being made by Rev. C. E. Woodson, of St. Peter's Church, Brambleton.

The final prayer of the consecration service was offered by Bishop Randolph, who also pronounced the benediction, which included the seven-fold amen by the choir and the recessional of the Bishop, clergy and choir. The musical program was an exceedingly attractive one, and was much enjoyed by all present.

EVENING SERVICE.

The service at night began promptly at 8 o'clock, the spacious auditorium being again filled with an audience that paid the most marked attention to the entire exercises.

The services opened with the usual evening prayer and was followed by the sermon of Rev. W. A. Barr, D. D., of Monumental Church, Richmond. His subject was "The Church of God, the Pillar and Ground of the Truth." It was a masterful discourse replete in eloquent flights of oratory.

Thus ended one of the most eventful days in the history of St. Luke's Episcopal church that will long linger in the memories of all who attended the services. St. Luke's starts out on a

W. M. Dame; vestry, A. L. Seabury, R. E. Taylor, J. T. Shanks, T. A. Williams, R. P. Dillard, W. B. Martin, C. H. Drummond and Dr. R. H. Harris.

In July, 1874 the final arrangements were completed by which the management passed from the Guild to the congregation. The Rev. W. M. Dame was succeeded by Rev. John B. Newton who served as rector of the church for a number of years.

MOVEMENT FOR A LARGER CHURCH.

The congregation rapidly outgrew the seating capacity of the old church, and on Easter Sunday, 1891, a collection was raised by the rector, Rev. A. S. Lloyd, who had served the congregation with great acceptability since 1855 as the successor of Dr. Newton. This collection was the first permanent movement towards the erection of a larger and more handsome edifice. The total subscription on this occasion amounted to $31,600. The following year, 1892, a second collection was taken up and $7,800 was subscribed, making a total of $39,400.

BUILDING COMMITTEE.

With this as a basis for operation, a building committee was appointed, consisting of Dr. Alex. Tunstall, Barton Myers, R. C. Taylor, R. A. Dodson, A. L. Seabury and John Williams.

THE NEW CHURCH.

On the 4th day of June, 1891, this committee contacted for the handsome church of which the Virginian-Pilot presents a most accurate illustration this morning.

On the 7th day of August the foundation was laid and the clang of the hammer and the hum of the saw were heard continuously until the building was completed.

The edifice, complete, cost $65,000, divided as follows: $13,000 for site, $40,000 for building and $11,000 for fixtures and furnishing. It is of Romanesque architecture, and is constructed of Richmond grey granite and North Carolina brownstone. The height of the tower is 75 feet and surrounded by a grit cross.

DESCRIPTION OF EDIFICE.

While the exterior of the church is of such a character as would mark it as a prosperous and prominent church in any city, the interior is equally noteworthy. The interior must be seen. From either of the five entrances a picture of remarkable richness and beauty is presented. The main entrance leading through an arch-door leads to the main vestibule 12x35 feet, leading to the chancel from this main aisle, which is four and a half feet in width.

The chancel is apsidal in shape, with an arch on either side, one on the east side fronting the baptistry, the other on the west side fronting the organ room. The background of the baptistry is a stained glass window, representing the descending dove upon the shoulders of the Saviour. In the rear of this is the robing room, to the east end of the baptistry, and connecting with it is the vestry room, situated between the two churches, the old and the new, and will serve alike for either on the opposite side of the chancel and in front of the arch, under which the old organ was erected, stands the new and magnificent $10,000 instrument, which was recently put up.

In 1836 the House of Bishops adopted a set of resolutions signifying their willingness to extend the right hand of fellowship to any denomination which accepted the four cardinal tenets of the Episcopal Church, and these resolutions were adopted by the Lambeth Conference of Bishops in London in 1858, which was a pan-Episcopal convention, thus making them universal. Probably the first illustration of the Lambeth quadrilateral in church decoration in Christendom is shown in the rear of this church.

There are five stained glass windows, the centre one having on it a hand in the clouds, symbolizing the Father; on the west side, and next to it is the cross and crown symbolizing the Son, on the east side and next to the Father, is the Descending Dove, symbolizing the Holy Ghost. The first and last windows represent Alpha and Omega.

The four plaster spaces between the windows are the illustrations referred to above, beginning on the west, the first space having a picture of the Holy Bible, symbolized by an open book; the second having the two creeds, the Apostles and the Nicene, symbolized by the double cross and Constantine; the third having the two sacraments, Baptism and communion, symbolized by the font and the chalice, and the fourth having the historic Episcopal symbolized by the Bishop's mitre and the pastoral staff. The nave window on the west side represents the Old Dispensation, and on the east side the New Dispensation.

The ceiling of this beautiful structure is of hard wood, natural grain, the walls are green, with bands of darker green and decorated with stenciling of gold. The building, as a whole, is a perfect modern church, with the addition of the new organ. The total cost of the edifice is about $80,000.

Rev. Sam Jones To-night.

The lecture and concert to be given to-night in the main auditorium of the Cumberland Street M. E. Church, under the auspices of the Young Men's Society for the benefit of the building fund, will doubtless fill the church to its utmost capacity. The church is one of the largest and most commodious in the city, and will very comfortably seat people, besides the additional folding chairs that can be used. It is needless to say that Sam Jones is the most popular pulpit orator and speaker of the day, and the opportunity accorded to the people of this section again of hearing him is hailed with much delight and pleasure. His fame and popularity has caused widespread talk and criticism, inasmuch that the commendation given him by men, women and churches has resounded throughout the country. The Young Men's Society, and especially the chairman of the committee, Mr. J. Talbot Kogebeln, is deserving of many thanks for the excellent entertainment in store for to-night. The following is the program:

Twentieth Century Fund.

The Virginian-Pilot has received the following interesting letter from Rev. Jas. H. Henderlite, of Accomac county, who is now at Atlanta.

Atlanta, Ga., May 25, 1900.

The Grand Assembly of the Presbyterian church took action here to-day looking to the raising of a 20th century fund of $1,000,000 for purposes of education. This is simply an effort to unite and put on a surer basis individual efforts in various quarters of the church in the interest of various denominational movements. Movements are already on foot in different synods of the church that compose about three fourths of this amount.

The matter was given in charge of a committee consisting of the Rev. W. W. Moore, D. D., of Union Theological Seminary, Richmond, Va., chairman; the Rev. C. R. Hemphill, D. D., of Louisville; Lun, vice chairman, and two members each from the several synods of the Assembly. The Rev. R. P. Kerr, D. D., of Richmond, and Elder C. B. Caskey, of Lynchburg, were elected members of this committee from the Synod of Virginia.

C. L. U. Meeting.

V. Casey, J. Carmichael and C. H. Perry was appointed to confer with the C. L. U. of Newport News, relative to arrangements for a joint celebration of Labor Day. The C. L. U. also last night declared Porter beer as "unfair" and non-union and ordered all members of organized labor represented in the body not to patronize this beer.
